

ISA Level 2 Surf Instructor Course Information

Prerequisites

- Minimum 18 years old
- Held ISA Level 1 and been teaching for a minimum of 12 months but it is strongly recommended that unless someone has been teaching regularly and consistently during the 12 months they should really have had their Level 1 for two years or more. People can miss out on a lot of the concepts and understanding if they haven't already had that strong base of teaching, instructing and coaching surfing and so they don't benefit as much from the course and therefore will not be as good a coach after completion
- Have a higher standard of surfing to a solid intermediate level. Level 2 Course Participants should be competent surfing both left and right in chest to head high waves. Participants should be confident and competent to
 - Surf strongly off the bottom for competent top turns,
 - Surf top to bottom fairly tightly
 - Be able to competently negotiate the waves
 - Be competent and confident in the line up and ocean
 - Be able to read conditions and sit in the right take off spot
 - Be able to read the waves and surf them appropriately
 - Have a good level of basic surf knowledge, understanding, awareness and skill levels in the water and line up

Course

- 3 full days of practical and theory

After Course

- 40 Hours of coaching a group of surfers of a basic intermediate or above level using a holistic Program Plan as per the course material that will be covered during the course. A comprehensive explanation of this Assignment will be covered during the course.
- After completion of this 40 Hours, there is an online Test that needs to be successfully completed

As in all ISA Instructor Courses, there is a 12 month time frame to complete the above requirements
